Probiotics and Immunity: Targeted Solutions for Every Life Stage

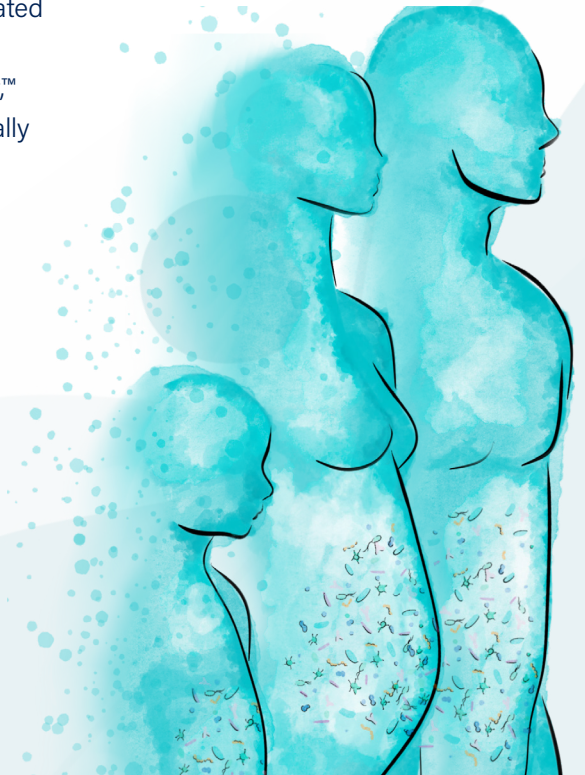

Rebecca Edwards
BA Adv Dip Nat Dip Nut
Director of Education

Join us for an engaging webinar exploring the evolving nature of the immune system across different life stages and the critical role of the gut microbiome in immune function. From infancy to older adulthood, our immune needs change, requiring targeted support to maintain optimal immune health.

In this session, we'll dive into the latest research on clinically-trialled probiotic strains that enhance immune resilience, reduce infection risk, and promote overall well-being— and explore how certain probiotic strains serve us better at different life stages.

Learn how each of the products within Activated Probiotics' immune health range— including Biome Baby,[™] Biome Daily Kids,[™] Biome Daily,[™] and Biome Osteo Plus[™] — has been specifically formulated to support the gut-immune interface from birth through our later years.
