The Therapeutic Goods Administration has removed Andrographis paniculata (Andrographis) from the Therapeutic Goods (Permissible Ingredients) Determination (No. 2) 2026, which lists the ingredients permitted for use in listed, low-risk medicines in Australia. This decision follows a safety review relating to the potential for severe allergic reactions, including anaphylaxis. Following the TGA's determination, BioCeuticals immediately ceased supplying the affected products.

What should you do?
Please take the following action immediately:

- Inspect your stock for the affected products listed above.
- Remove all affected products from sale or supply.
- Quarantine the affected stock to prevent further use.
- Check your email from Rener Health Products for instructions to initiate your return.

If you have supplied these products to consumers, please advise them to stop using the product and return it to your business. Locate your email from Rener Health Products for instructions to initiate your return.

We apologise for any inconvenience caused and appreciate your prompt assistance with this recall.
